

SECRETARY MUST EXPLAIN ARREST

Stimson Asked by Letter Why Spectator Was Arrested at Polo Game.

COL. COSBY TELLS SIDE

As a result of the arrest of Orville B. Stimson, general agent for the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company, at the polo grounds in Potomac Park last Friday on a charge of trespassing when he refused to pay $1 for the parking of his automobile to see the game, a letter has been sent to the Secretary of War by a prominent Democratic Representative, asking for an explanation of the arrest.

If the answer from the War Department with respect to the authority of the management of the army polo tournament to charge a fee for parking a machine upon the government property to witness a game is not entirely satisfactory, Mr. Stimson said last night he would attempt to have a Congressional investigation of the matter.

The Democratic Representative, to whom Mr. Stimson took his grievances following the episode, has announced his willingness to urge the holding of such an investigation if the arrested man desires it. The entire case now hangs upon the reply of Secretary of War Stimson.

Friday Mr. Stimson, upon reaching the polo grounds, was directed by a park policeman and an employee of the War Department to place his machine at the side of the road facing the field, with the front wheels on the grass plot skirting along near the side boards. When the automobile was in position, the War Department employee stepped up and asked for $1. Mr. Stimson refused to pay the fee, and likewise refused to move when he was told that he could not remain without paying. The park policeman placed him under arrest and took him to police headquarters, where no collateral was paid.

Col. Cosby Explains. Yesterday W. W. Hyde, attorney for Mr. Stimson, arranged with Assistant United States Attorney Ralph Given to have the case continued until next week, pending an investigation into the details of the matter. Enoch A. Chase, a prominent local attorney, who was with Mr. Stimson when he was arrested, will appear as a witness when the case is called.

"The arrest was made not because the automobile refused to pay the $1 for parking his machine," said Col. Stimson. "It was a case of a man who refused to pay."

ELIXIR BUCHU COMPOUND

For Kidneys, Bladder, and Urinary Organs.

CHAS. HAWKINS, DRUGGIST.

Cor. 4th and Va. Ave. S. E.

SAVE THE ELK GROVE CARTONS.

ELK GROVE BUTTER

A quality butter of pleasing taste. Able to stand the heat. Put up in airtight glass-proof cartons.

GOLDEN & CO.,

Wholesalers Only

922-928 La. Ave.

Sure Shot Bug Killer

Instantaneous Death to ROACHES BEDBUGS CROTON BUGS

20 Cents Pint

Phone

McChesney & Joachim

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

SECRETARY MUST EXPLAIN ARREST

Stimson Asked by Letter Why Spectator Was Arrested at Polo Game.

COL. COSBY TELLS SIDE

As a result of the arrest of Orville B. Stimson, general agent for the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company, at the polo grounds in Potomac Park last Friday on a charge of trespassing when he refused to pay $1 for the parking of his automobile to see the game, a letter has been sent to the Secretary of War by a prominent Democratic Representative, asking for an explanation of the arrest.

If the answer from the War Department with respect to the authority of the management of the army polo tournament to charge a fee for parking a machine upon the government property to witness a game is not entirely satisfactory, Mr. Stimson said last night he would attempt to have a Congressional investigation of the matter.

The Democratic Representative, to whom Mr. Stimson took his grievances following the episode, has announced his willingness to urge the holding of such an investigation if the arrested man desires it. The entire case now hangs upon the reply of Secretary of War Stimson.

Friday Mr. Stimson, upon reaching the polo grounds, was directed by a park policeman and an employee of the War Department to place his machine at the side of the road facing the field, with the front wheels on the grass plot skirting along near the side boards. When the automobile was in position, the War Department employee stepped up and asked for $1. Mr. Stimson refused to pay the fee, and likewise refused to move when he was told that he could not remain without paying. The park policeman placed him under arrest and took him to police headquarters, where no collateral was paid.

Col. Cosby Explains. Yesterday W. W. Hyde, attorney for Mr. Stimson, arranged with Assistant United States Attorney Ralph Given to have the case continued until next week, pending an investigation into the details of the matter. Enoch A. Chase, a prominent local attorney, who was with Mr. Stimson when he was arrested, will appear as a witness when the case is called.

"The arrest was made not because the automobile refused to pay the $1 for parking his machine," said Col. Stimson. "It was a case of a man who refused to pay."

ELIXIR BUCHU COMPOUND

For Kidneys, Bladder, and Urinary Organs.

CHAS. HAWKINS, DRUGGIST.

Cor. 4th and Va. Ave. S. E.

SAVE THE ELK GROVE CARTONS.

ELK GROVE BUTTER

A quality butter of pleasing taste. Able to stand the heat. Put up in airtight glass-proof cartons.

GOLDEN & CO.,

Wholesalers Only

922-928 La. Ave.

Sure Shot Bug Killer

Instantaneous Death to ROACHES BEDBUGS CROTON BUGS

20 Cents Pint

Phone

McChesney & Joachim

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

COR. 24 & N. E.

BULLITT CONFIRMED SOLICITOR GENERAL

Senate Approves Appointment of Kentuckian on President's Testimonial as to His Ability.

SENATE APPROVES APPOINTMENT OF KENTUCKIAN ON PRESIDENT'S TESTIMONIAL AS TO HIS ABILITY.

In the executive session of the Senate yesterday afternoon a certificate from President Taft as to the legal abilities of William Marshall Bullitt, of Louisville, Ky., was accepted as a sufficient testimonial to Mr. Bullitt's qualifications for the office of Solicitor General, and he was promptly confirmed.

Mr. Bullitt has been named as the successor of Fred W. Lehmann, of St. Louis, resigned. Senator Bradley of Kentucky had testified to the high legal ability of Mr. Bullitt, but one of the Senators suggested that Bradley did not seem to be enthusiastic in his commendation. Thereupon the Senator made a second speech, in which he left nothing to be desired in extolling the qualifications of Mr. Bullitt.

In course of the discussion one Senator quoted President Taft as saying that he regarded Mr. Bullitt as one of the ablest constitutional lawyers in the country, and otherwise well qualified to be Solicitor General.

There was a reference yesterday to the case of Richard C. Sloan, former Governor of Arizona, who was nominated several months ago by President Taft as United States District Judge of the District of Arizona. It was evident from the comment called out by the suggestion that Gov. Sloan cannot be confirmed at this session of Congress.

About 8 o'clock yesterday morning Thompson entered a ward occupied by several old men and drove them out with a heavy cane which it was his habit to carry constantly. Dr. S. Boyce Pole, the resident physician, was summoned and immediately recognized the dangerous character of the man's disorder. Thompson retreated before Dr. Pole to a corner of the room and drew an iron bar about eight inches long and one inch in diameter from his pocket. This, he declared, contained money, and he refused to surrender it to the doctor.

Suddenly he sprang forward and struck at Dr. Pole, who managed to ward off the blow partially, but was struck on the head and stunned for a moment. The man then seized the physician and might have made an end to him had not an attendant arrived and seized Thompson.

In the meantime Dr. Pole recovered from the shock and took Thompson to an active part in the struggle. He was formerly a college athlete and has kept in pretty good training, but it was not until several other attendants had arrived and given assistance that he was finally overpowered and held.

Officers were summoned from the Eleventh precinct and Thompson was removed to the Washington Asylum Hospital, where he was taken to his home and transferred to the Government Hospital for the Insane.

The House Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds yesterday ordered a favorable report on the Snyder resolution to appropriate $100,000 toward the construction of a Red Cross memorial building in the city of Washington.

Miss Mabel Boardman, President of the American Red Cross, appeared before the committee and urged a favorable report on the Snyder resolution, which already has been reported by a Senate committee. Miss Boardman detailed the broad scope of the work of the Red Cross and was extended a vote of thanks by the committee. Acting Chairman Burnett ordered 10,000 copies of the hearings.

The Snyder resolution provides that the memorial building "shall commemorate the services and sacrifices of the loyal women of the United States during the civil war." It is also provided that the building shall be a building monumental in design and character, and shall be used as the permanent home of the American National Red Cross.

The selection of a site and the construction of the building will be under the direction of a commission comprising the Secretary of War, a representative of the New York City Board of Education, and a representative of the American National Red Cross. The structure, inclusive of site, is to cost not less than $200,000.

WASHED MONEY RETURNED. Plate Printers Waging Fight Against Bureau Machines.

Members of the Plate Printers' Union, who are waging a fight against the installation of laundry machines for the washing of old money at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, have scattered a broadcast that a St. Louis bank has returned a bundle of the washed product with the notation that it is unfit for use.

According to the story, which is now current in the city, the bank stated that the use of the washed bills would require too much of the time of the clerks in explaining to patrons that the paper was good United States money, and in convincing them that the house was not in league with a band of counterfeiters, as many might suppose from the appearance of the laundered money.

Wife Returns to Home. Mrs. Julia Hinton, who had been reported to the police as missing from home, 628 Orleans Street Northwest, since July 5, has returned. Her husband, W. P. Hinton, who had asked the police to look for her, stated yesterday that Mrs. Hinton had been paying a visit to relatives in accordance with plans of which he had not been advised.

Auto Wagon Catches Fire. An auto wagon belonging to the Merchants' Transfer Company caught fire at Fourteenth Street and Columbia Road about 7 o'clock last night and caused the calling out of No. 11 Engine Company. The damage was slight.

DEMOCRATS ORGANIZE Those in Chevy Chase Want More County Funds.

The Democrats of Chevy Chase, Md., believe that their town has not received a fair share of the county funds, and to remedy the matter they organized the Montgomery County Democratic Voters' League yesterday.

ILLINOIS PAINTER VICTOR IN ROME

Eugene F. Savage, who studied at the Corcoran Gallery of Art, is Awarded Fellowship.

Eugene F. Savage, of Bloomington, Ill., who studied at the Corcoran Gallery of Art, has been awarded the annual fellowship in painting of the American Academy in Rome.

This is the American Prix de Rome, entitling the winner to three years' residence in the beautiful Villa Miraflores and an income of $1,000 a year. Another institute student, R. Martin Hennings, was a close second.

The competition for the three fellowships of the American Academy of Rome in painting, sculpture, and architecture is open to all American students. Students of painting are required to submit a drawing from life done in three sittings, a painting from life done in four, and studies in linear perspective, anatomy, and composition.

Competitors are sifted down to ten and then to three, and each of these is required to elaborate his four-hour composition study into a finished mural painting done in six weeks. From these the final award is made.

Frank D. Miller, who was lost on the Titanic, was one of the directors of the academy, and a fund is being raised to establish a memorial chair of scholarship in his honor.

After a number of conferences yesterday between Representative Clayton of Alabama, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, and the Senate leaders, a tentative agreement was reached by which the impeachment proceedings brought against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

This agreement will require the approval of the Senate and the content of the case against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

After a number of conferences yesterday between Representative Clayton of Alabama, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, and the Senate leaders, a tentative agreement was reached by which the impeachment proceedings brought against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

This agreement will require the approval of the Senate and the content of the case against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

After a number of conferences yesterday between Representative Clayton of Alabama, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, and the Senate leaders, a tentative agreement was reached by which the impeachment proceedings brought against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

This agreement will require the approval of the Senate and the content of the case against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

After a number of conferences yesterday between Representative Clayton of Alabama, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, and the Senate leaders, a tentative agreement was reached by which the impeachment proceedings brought against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

This agreement will require the approval of the Senate and the content of the case against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

After a number of conferences yesterday between Representative Clayton of Alabama, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, and the Senate leaders, a tentative agreement was reached by which the impeachment proceedings brought against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

This agreement will require the approval of the Senate and the content of the case against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

After a number of conferences yesterday between Representative Clayton of Alabama, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, and the Senate leaders, a tentative agreement was reached by which the impeachment proceedings brought against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

This agreement will require the approval of the Senate and the content of the case against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

After a number of conferences yesterday between Representative Clayton of Alabama, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, and the Senate leaders, a tentative agreement was reached by which the impeachment proceedings brought against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

This agreement will require the approval of the Senate and the content of the case against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

After a number of conferences yesterday between Representative Clayton of Alabama, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, and the Senate leaders, a tentative agreement was reached by which the impeachment proceedings brought against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

This agreement will require the approval of the Senate and the content of the case against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

After a number of conferences yesterday between Representative Clayton of Alabama, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, and the Senate leaders, a tentative agreement was reached by which the impeachment proceedings brought against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

This agreement will require the approval of the Senate and the content of the case against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

After a number of conferences yesterday between Representative Clayton of Alabama, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, and the Senate leaders, a tentative agreement was reached by which the impeachment proceedings brought against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

This agreement will require the approval of the Senate and the content of the case against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

After a number of conferences yesterday between Representative Clayton of Alabama, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, and the Senate leaders, a tentative agreement was reached by which the impeachment proceedings brought against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

This agreement will require the approval of the Senate and the content of the case against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

After a number of conferences yesterday between Representative Clayton of Alabama, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, and the Senate leaders, a tentative agreement was reached by which the impeachment proceedings brought against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

This agreement will require the approval of the Senate and the content of the case against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

After a number of conferences yesterday between Representative Clayton of Alabama, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, and the Senate leaders, a tentative agreement was reached by which the impeachment proceedings brought against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

This agreement will require the approval of the Senate and the content of the case against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

After a number of conferences yesterday between Representative Clayton of Alabama, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, and the Senate leaders, a tentative agreement was reached by which the impeachment proceedings brought against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

This agreement will require the approval of the Senate and the content of the case against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

After a number of conferences yesterday between Representative Clayton of Alabama, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, and the Senate leaders, a tentative agreement was reached by which the impeachment proceedings brought against Judge Archbald, of the Commerce Court, will go over to be heard probably at a special session of Senate to be called shortly after the election in November, in the expectation that the case will be concluded before the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

ILLINOIS PAINTER VICTOR IN ROME

Eug